To Whom It May Concern;

This letter hereby acknowledges the American Cross Border Education Institute (ACBEI) as a referral partner in China for the Kansas Academy of Mathematics and Science (KAMS). KAMS is an early-entrance-to-college program in the state of Kansas for some of the best and brightest high school students. The Academy is located on the campus of Fort Hays State University (FHSU) in Hays, Kansas. The Academy selects high school students from the state of Kansas, as well as students from throughout the United States and internationally. The incoming class of students has the opportunity to be enriched by a cross section of very talented young people. KAMS students complete 68 college credits while in attendance at the Academy and also complete a research project in an area selected by the student.

ACBEI has partnered with FHSU for the purpose of providing information and recruiting prospective students from China to attend KAMS. Admission decisions are made by the FHSU/KAMS staff.

For further information regarding this unique opportunity, please contact John He, Director of ACBEI, China Office, and the representative working with prospective KAMS students. John can be reached at john.he@acbei.org or by phone at 86-10-6211 3186.
